THE BURIAL OF SIR JOHN.

THE UNIVERSAL EVIDENCES OF MOURNING AT OTTAWA.

The Funeral Procession to St. Alban's Church—A Solemn and Impressive Procession—20,000 People View the Remains—The Closing Chapter.

OTTAWA, June 10.—The city is clad in mourning to-day. From every flagstaff floats an ensign at half-mast, while every leading store and principal business centre in the city is profusely decorated with black cloth and crape, or other symbols of sorrow, betokening the feelings of the people toward the loss of an illustrious citizen. Nor was this display of true sorrow confined to the principal marts and handsome residences, for there was scarcely a window along the principal streets of the city in which there was not to seen photos of the late Sir John, encased in mourning. Scarcely was there a man or woman to be met on the street who did not wear a miniature photo of the dead Premier, a badge or some other symbol to mark their grief over the departure of one whom they were until a few short weeks ago accustomed to see move among them, full of life and vitality. The weather was beautiful; the hot sun shown brightly, with not enough wind to expose to view the many Union Jacks to be seen on every vantage point. At an early hour in the morning, large contingents were to be seen arriving from the country districts, while each train as it arrived in the city brought forth as many more to swell the already crowded city. It was with difficulty that a very few of these saw the remains of the late Premier lying in state in the the Senate Chamber. But for traces of emaciation, symbolical of the severe illness he had undergone, the face was as familiar as ever. During to-day and yesterday there must have been from 20,000 to 25,000 persons who passed along the barrier in the Senate Chamber and took a last look and farewell of the departed. The funeral procession started at 1 o'clock, the fire bell announcing the same, and all the church bells in the city commencing to toll. From the main entrance of the Parliament buildings the procession proceeded through the eastern gate down Elgin to Maria street, thence along Theodore to King street, to Daly street to St. Albans Church. As the mournful cortege passed along the route a sea of faces lined the sidewalks, while emblems of mourning were displayed from all the buildings along the way. The stores were all closed, and everything the citizens could do to show their respect and esteem for the deceased, was attributed to the mournful proceedings. The rector, Rev. Bogert, and Venerable Archdeacon Lauder, were the officiating clergymen. Admission to the church was by ticket, there being about six hundred in all present, including Lord Stanley, ministers of the Crown, judges, consuls, members of Parliament, senators, chief mourners and library officers. Leaving the church the solemn procession proceeded to the Canadian Pacific depot, from whence the funeral train started for Kingston. Those on the train were principally the chief mourners and a few members of Parliament and press representatives.

The funeral cortege was caught in a down pour of rain while on its way from the church to the railway depot. Large numbers of people were compelled to run for shelter and were thus prevented from seeing the funeral pass. The procession was not very large, taking only fifteen minutes to pass a given point.

OTTAWA, June 9.—The Globe, Liberal, discussing the political situation, says: "Though Sir Charles Tupper has been telegraphed for, the present impression is that Sir John Thompson will become first Minister. Liberalism is in control of all the Provincial Governments, with one or two unimportant exceptions, and its triumph at Ottawa is merely a question of a few months, for not only is the Old Man himself dead, but his system of Government has run its course and come to its end with him."

A special dispatch from Ottawa says:—"All sorts of rumors are flying about to day as to whom the Governor-General will call upon to form the new cabinet. It is said to-day that no one has yet been summoned by the Governor, and that it is not probable that any one will be until after the funeral. This delay of at least five days is almost without precedent. It gives point to a curious story afloat to the effect that the Governor-General left the meeting of the Royal Society of Montreal rather hurriedly last Wednesday, and called upon Sir John Macdonald at Earnscliffe the next day. It is said that Sir John indicated then whom he thought should be called upon to form the new ministry in case his illness terminated fatally."

The Empire, the Government organ, in an editorial on "The Duty of the Hour," says:

The matchless leader is no more. The tongue of the patriot is silent. The head which planned and the hand which executed in his country's service is laid low in death. Remember that those who would abandon British rule on this continent and hand us over to the domination of a foreign country, have for years had their ghoulish hopes placed on the death of the leader, that they might undo the work which he has done. The self-convicted traitor, who has become the mouthpiece of a once great party, has declared in a treasonable pamphlet, which the grand old man himself dragged to light, that whatever course the United States may see fit to adopt, it is plain that Sir John's disappearance from the stage is to be the signal for a movement towards annexation. Forewarned is fore-armed. Even in the lifetime of the leader they made their desperate onset, but were driven back by his valorous arm, though he gave his life's blood to the contest, and now lies a martyr to his country's cause. But now the opportunity they have hoped for has come, and every force that can be brought for the blotting out of the map the name of Canada and handing us over, in the language of traitors, as "a tier of Northern states," will be marshaled to the fray with redoubled fury. The hope of the enemy lies in the prophecies that when the old leader was gone the hosts he led so often on to victory would be scattered as sheep waiting for their shepherd. When the plotters and traitors, both domestic and foreign, who are seeking to bring about the annexation of this country to the United States through specious schemes of unrestricted reciprocity or continental free trade, have been so completely crushed that they will never dare to raise their heads again in Canada, then, and not till then, can minor or side issues be disobeyed.

Political Rumors.

OTTAWA, June 8.—Mr. Dalton McCarthy was sent for by the Governor-General this afternoon, the object being, it is stated, to effect a reconciliation between the Equal Rights leaders and Sir John Thompson, who is now regarded as the coming man. The New Brunswick Conservative members in caucus last night adopted resolutions to support the choice of the party, but declared the present representation from that province in the Cabinet as satisfactory and expressing unwillingness to see any change made.

KINGSTON, June 8.—J. H. Metcalf did not say he would run in opposition to the Conservative Association, but he did say he would be a candidate to succeed Sir John Macdonald, provided Sir Charles Tupper did not want to run. Mr. Metcalf would allow his name to be used at the Conservative Convention and would abide by the decision.

TORONTO, June 8.—A quiet canvass is being carried on among prominent Conservatives with a view to discovering how far the accession of Sir John Thompson to the party leadership would be acceptible. The feeling against him on the part of Orangemen has been found to have unexpected strength.

Free Education in England.

LONDON, June 10.—The Government Education Bill was introduced in the Commons and passed its first reading. The Standard, in an editorial this morning, says it believes, after the Education Bill has passed its second reading, further debate on the measure will be postponed until the next session of Parliament. The Liberals, the Standard says, will oppose the grant to schools, the present fees of which are under three pence weekly, on the ground that it will throw them entirely in the control of the clergy.

The Deepest American Well.

An 8-inch well which is being sunk near Wheeling by the Wheeling Improvement Company, in a search for oil or gas, has reached, after several months of boring, a depth of 4100 feet. Both oil and gas have been struck throughout in paying quantities. It has gone through several thick veins of coal, and has traversed layers of gold quartz, iron, and numerous other minerals.

Professor J. C. White, State Geologist, who has watched the drilling closely, has succeeded in getting the government interested in it. The result is that after the well has been sunk to the depth of one mile the government will take up the work, and, under the direction of expert officers of the geological survey, drill into the earth as far as human skill can penetrate.

The temperature and magnetic conditions will be observed as far as possible, and, by means of an instrument constructed for the purpose, a complete record of the drilling and all discoveries made will be kept. This record will be placed in the Geological Survey's exhibit at the World's Fair, and afterwards preserved at Washington. Professor White and the government officers state that this will be one of the most novel and important exhibits at the fair, and will attract the attention of the scientists of the world.

When sending the troops to Wellington was first talked about, the Hon. John Robson expressed the way in which the proposal to send them there was regarded by the Provincial Government aptly and forcibly in a few words. When a friend suggested to him that the Local Government should take the initiative in the matter, Mr. Robson replied sharply and decisively: "The Government would not do so if it could, and could not if it would."

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

BISHOP HILL'S EULOGY OF THE DEAD PREMIER.

Christ Church Cathedral the Scene of the Address—A Glowing Tribute of His Many Virtues and Great Achievements Before a Large Audience.

Christ Church Cathedral was a bower of roses entwined with crape this morning when the knell of the funeral bell announced the opening services in memory and sympathy of the death of the late Sir John Alexander Macdonald. As organist Dean finished the last strain of Chopin's beautiful funeral march, the choristers entered the chancel, followed by the Rev. Mr. Beanlands, Archdeacon Scriven and the Right Reverend George Hills, D.D., Lord Bishop of Columbia. The services were very short, being opened by the Rev. Mr. Beanlands and Archdeacon Scriven reading the ninetieth Psalm, which was the lesson for the day. This was followed by singing the hymn "So soon passeth it away, and we are gone," which was splendidly rendered by the choir, under the able direction of Mr. Herbert Kent. The memorial address of His Lordship Bishop Hills then followed, and was listened to with wrapt attention by the entire audience throughout, and at its conclusion many enconiums were passed on its concise and eloquent eulogy of the great man that is now gone. During its delivery His Lordship's voice was filled with sympathy and feeling, but at the passages where he spoke of the great personality and achievements of the late Sir John it grew strong, and he exceeded himself in his oratory. The full text of the memorial address is as follows:

Dear Friends and Brethren:

We are met to-day in sympathy with the sad scene of the funeral of the great statesman now proceeding, attended by a weeping widow and children, sorrowing and attached friends and colleagues. We desire to unite with them and with the lamenting multitudes throughout the Dominion in expressing our sense of the loss we have sustained, and by this function to pay respect and honor to the memory of the departed. Our thoughts have been solemnized and edified we trust by the service in which we have just joined, wherein the bright and hopeful view of a Christian's death has been set forth.

Let me now offer a few reflections upon the remarkable career of the late Sir John Macdonald.

Born 76 years ago, he came in early life to Canada, was admitted to the bar in 1836 and entered public life in Parliament in 1844. During the period of 47 years, holding many offices of State at various times, Sir John had more or less participation in many eventful circumstances, latterly being the chief ruling mind in all burning questions, such as the rebellion losses, secularization of clergy reserves, Red River rebellions, Fenian invasion, threatened war with the States over the Trent affair, came on in turn for anxious thought and decision. Then important achievements were accomplished, requiring years of anxiety such as the confederation of the provinces, and adjustment of relations with the central authority, the Intercolonial and Canadian Pacific railways.

By these important policies, conceived with fore-sighted wisdom, carried forward in face of difficulties with unwavering purpose and brought to a great success, the Dominion of Canada has gained a position of national proportions and high future promise, a worthy and honorable branch and ally of the British Empire with its 336 millions of people and upon whose flag the sun never sets. These are some of the important events and subjects which engaged the active and sagacious mind of Sir John Macdonald. But these could not have been carried to their successful issue had there not been in the character of this eminent statesman especial qualities. No doubt his abilities were splendid, but step by step he rose through industry, perseverance and study until trained in such discipline, and in participation of public troubles and hard problems he reached the powerful influence which he so well exercised for his country's good. In disposition Sir John had the advantage of being naturally genial and conciliating, and possessed the clearness of mind to know exactly when to make a compromise and so settle differences harmoniously with all. By this gift he was enabled, greatly to the advantage of the country, to hold together for united action diverse races and creeds, in which eminently a peacemaker. Every British subject must admire his unflinching loyalty to the Crown and attachment to the Imperial connection. For long and faithful service and genuine patriotism the few honors that the Sovereign bestowed were merited and will remain an heirloom of a family ennobled by a great and pure example. Sir John died at his post, in harness, his end hastened probably by a great recent strain of hard work. It has never been breathed that he was one who sought to be rich by any means of his great opportunities. He was unostentatious, and evidently sought to do his duty sincerely before God, entirely unselfishly as to personal gain. The memorial motto upon one of the greatest of English statesmen, who served his country in a similar way during eventful times, will apply to him:

"Do justice, Britons, to his spotless mind,

We may quote the lines also upon another great statesman, distinguished for service in India, when we think of the peaceable and industrious condition of the native races of this Dominion.

Let history tell the deeds his wisdom planned,
His bloodless triumphs o'er a barbarous land.
Bright in his hand the sword of justice gleamed,
But mercy won the cause—the savage bands
Forsook their haunts, and bowed to his commands.

And again, showing how like to each other are the great and good, the language used of a famous warrior statesman, slightly varied, will here apply, in that he possessed

The singular destiny and merit of leading the politics of his country through arduous circumstances, and conducting its councils through the birth of a government, new in form and principle, until it had settled down into a quiet and orderly train.

Such was the great statesman whose loss the country mourns, but whose memory is enshrined in the archives of the British Empire. England has had many such noble and faithful servants, and has them now and will have them again and again. They are instruments raised up by the providence of God in love and mercy for our good. If we remain a God-fearing, virtue-loving people, we need not be anxious for the morrow. We have come through many difficulties in the past, our progress and prosperity are certain, for God's word declares that "righteousness exalteth a nation." The work, too, of these leaders remains; they have contributed their allotted part in raising the fabric of their country's greatness, and others following will build upon the foundations so wisely laid. Example, too, of the wise and good remains, a living impulse, stirring others on to self-sacrifice, faithful service, devotion to country, loyalty to the sovereign, duty to God. The British empire has risen, grown and expanded in extent, wealth and power through such instruments. Let us thank God for these and other gifts, and take note, old and young, that—

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of time.

Footprints that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us, then, be up and doing
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.

But we have authority infinitely higher than that of the more refined and eloquent of mortal men for inspiration of noble deeds, and the promise of infinitely greater honors and reward than can be here conceived, assured to us in the voice and example of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who is our pattern to copy of fine mottoes, virtue, self-denial, courage, sympathy, above all transcendent sacrifice.

"A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another, as I have loved you that ye also love one another." "I have given you an example that ye should do as I have done to you." "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you that where I am there ye may be also."

"He died for all that they which live should not live unto themselves but unto Him which died for them and rose again."

At the conclusion of Bishop Hill's remarks, the choir sang, "The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God and there shall no torment touch them."

His Lordship, the Bishop, then pronounced the benediction and the audience were dismissed.

A Jockey's Suit.

NEW YORK, June 10.—That prince of jockeys, James McLaughlin, now has a lawsuit on hand. Last fall he was engaged by Frank Ehret and F. C. McLewee, who then raced under the name of Hell Gate stables, as their first jockey, at a salary of $10,000 a year and payment for his mounts. McLaughlin was required to ride at 120 pounds. The unsettled weather had made it very hard for McLaughlin to keep down to riding weight, though he has done so with much personal discomfort, congestive chills having at times unfitted him for work. He has not yet won a race for McLewee. Yesterday McLaughlin was served with a written notice from Ehret and McLewee that he had violated his contract with them by failing to reduce his weight to 120 pounds, and by riding for another stable without their consent. McLaughlin claims to have lived up to the strict letter of his agreement, and says that the excuse afforded by his employers is simply a pretext to get rid of the payment of money due him. He has accordingly retained Howe & Hummel to bring suit against Ehret & McLewee to recover $12,000, the amount of his year's salary, added to the sum due for mounts he has had on their horses.

The Sealing Question.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 10.—The government has notified all agents at the seal islands, per steamer Rush, to stop the killing of seals by the North American Commercial Company when it has taken 7,500, the number which the administration, in correspondence with the British government for a closed season, made one of the conditions of the agreement.

LONDON, June 10—The House of Lords formally passed the Behring sea bill, as received from the House of Commons to-day. Before its passage, Lord Salisbury moved an amendment, which was adopted, to the effect that the Queen, by an order in council, may prohibit British ships from catching seals in Behring sea during the period limited by the order, or such part thereof as would be described in the order.

Killed by Lightning.

BERLIN, June 10.—While Emperor William was reviewing the Grenadiers at prize drill about 9 o'clock this morning, near Templehoff, a storm arose accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. Three soldiers were struck by lightning and two of them were killed. The captain and other soldiers sustained very serious injuries.

THE BACCARAT SCANDAL.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL'S SCATHING REFERENCES TO THE PRINCE.

LONDON, June 9.—Solicitor General Clark began his address to the jury in the baccarat case by saying that it had been common talk that the presence of the Prince of Wales in court during the trial of the suit had been for the purpose of restraining the tongues of lawyers engaged in the case from commenting upon the Prince of Wales in connection with it. This remark caused a sensation, but it was nothing to what followed. Sir Edward intimated that the presence of the Prince would not prevent him from making any comment necessary, saying he (counsel) had a painful duty to perform, and that he intended performing it honestly and faithfully. His opponent, he continued, had always been careful to allude to him (counsel for phintiff) as the Solicitor General. He added: "While I am proud of the title, I must remind the jury that I appear in this case simply as an English barrister, and I am engaged to disregard all friendship and watch my client's interest, and comment on the conduct and evidence of one who is the highest in the land." Sir Edward, as he uttered these last words, turned squarely around until he faced the Prince of Wales, upon whom all in court then fixed their eyes. The Prince nervously crossed his legs while the audience waited aghast for what was to take place. In several directions there were whispered comments of "Why is he going to attack the Prince of Wales?" and all attention was rivited upon the plaintiff's counsel. Continuing, the solicitor-General remarked that Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the defendant, had said that if the jury found for the plaintiff, and disregarded the document the latter had signed at Tranbycroft, the military authorities would take the matter up, and that Sir William Gordon Cumming's name would be stricken from the army list. "I wish to say in unmistakable terms," exclaimed Sir Edward, raising his voice until it echoed tellingly through the court, "that it would be impossible for the authorities to do any such thing and leave on that list the names of Field Marshals Prince of Wales and General Owen Williams." This bold statement seemed to completely take away the breath of the audience, and caused by far the greatest sensation of the entire trial. A hushed murmer of astonishment, not unmixed with dismay and some irritation, swept over the court room. After the sensation had somewhat subsided Sir Edward directed his attention to the discrepancies which he asserted existed between the precis drawn up at Tranbycroft, which accused Sir William Gordon Cumming of withdrawing, as well as adding counters to those he had previously staked at baccarat, and the statement in which the Wilson family declared that there was a preconcerned plan to watch Cumming on the second night of the baccarat playing. "Yes," exclaimed the solicitor-general, referring to the Wilsons. "They undoubtedly have money, but even if Sir William Cumming would condescend to take from such a source, I shall not ask the jury to fix the damages beyond a nominal sum."

When the court adjourned for luncheon, the Prince of Wales hurriedly left his seat on the bench, and, contrary to his usual habits of politeness, completely disregarded the humble courtesies of several ladies in his immediate vicinity.

The solicitor general, in proceeding, dwelt strongly upon the fact that the Prince of Wales, General Williams and Lord Coventry all passed their opinions on Arthur Stanley Wilson's statement, which the latter had since modified and upon the fact that the Prince of Wales, Lord Coventry and General Williams were satisfied that they had not seen a single suspicious act on the part of Sir William Gordon-Cummings. Sir Edward dilated upon the facility with which people imagine things when they have been previously advised of their possible existence, but which never really happen. He said that there was nothing in the accusations against the plaintiff that could not be explained by the system of play Cummings adopted, although the jury was asked to believe that the plaintiff had descended to adopting the tricks of the lowest sharper. The solicitor-general commented sarcastically upon the ornamental position occupied by the head of the Wilson family, who, counsel said, was not consulted throughout the proceedings and apparently had to give way to his son-in-law, Mr. Lycett Green, who was deputed to defend the family honor. "A man of the mature age of 31," said the solicitor-general, cutingly referring to Green, "who rode after the hounds four days in the week. When Green heard the Prince of Wales say, 'Give him another tenner; I wish people would put their stakes in conspicuous places,' he, Mr. Green, came to the conclusion that Sir William had been cheating, and rose from the table full of valiant resolution, but, changing his mind, Green wrote to his mother-in-law in magnificent tones of elevated morality and then returned to the play again and afterwards directed the attention of the Prince of Wales, who was again present, to the affair, and who, without hearing Sir William's version of the occurrence, condemned his intimate friend."

"What were Sir William Gordon-Cummings reasons for signing the document about which so much has been said?" asked the solicitor general, looking straight into the Prince of Wales' eye. "It was," he said, after an effective pause, "to save the Prince of Wales among the mass of the people." Sir Edward continued, uttering each word with startling distinctness, "it is well known that a club or inn could be prosecuted for playing baccarat, and in a great part of the community there is a feeling now that this unhappy incident ought never to have been allowed to become known, because the circumstances were those which were at variance with the feeling, with the conscience of the people.

"Then there was the strange and subtle influence of royalty," still more solemnly and dramatically said the Solicitor-General, "and Sir William Gordon-Cummings' action in signing that document was due to the influence which has adorned his story, and which has made many do unkingly and dishonorable deeds to save the king, because they gave their honor as freely as they would have given their lives for the interests of the dynasty, or to conceal the foibles of a prince."

"The documents," continued Sir Edward Clarke, with increasing force, amidst almost deadly silence throughout the court-room, "was signed by Sir William Gordon-Cumming in order to save the Prince of Wales from scandal. The motto of Sir William Gordon-Cummings' family is 'without fear.' He came into the witness box without fear, confident of a verdict which will wipe this stain from his noble record of service with his gallant regiment of brave soldiers."

Sir Edward said to the jury: "It is too late to undo much of the mischief which has been done." Then, facing the Prince of Wales again, and looking the latter directly in the face for about the space of a minute, he continued, in a voice appareently shaken with emotion, "and it may be too late to save the reputation of some people mentioned in this case. (Again turning to the jury) It is not too late for you to prevent the completion of the sacrifice of this gallant officer."

Sir Edward Clark's speech was regarded as a most eloquent and telling effort, and, as he closed his remarks, there was a burst of applause, cheering, and hand-clapping throughout the court.

3 PRACTICAL POINTS

One of the most successful German physicians gave as the secret of his wonderful success these three important points:—

1. Keep the Head Cool.
2. Keep the Bowels Open.
3. Keep the Feet Warm.

These conditions are not so easily obtained as one would think. Why? Because without pure and healthy blood a vigorous circulation cannot be kept up, and because the food and occupation of most people tends to clog up the bowels and produce constipation. The success of D. D. D., like that of the German physician, lies in purifying the blood, and regulating the bowels, liver and stomach, that these three conditions are fulfilled easily, and disease can find no lodgment in the body.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

B B B

This medicine does purify the blood and cure all diseases arising from impure or unhealthy blood. It does regulate the entire system and cure constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, skin diseases, rheumatism and all disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. During the past ten years over one million bottles have been sold in Canada, and, although we guarantee every bottle to do all we claim, we have not received a single complaint.

CANADIAN NEWS.

A Bush Fire at Blake Lake Sets Fire to Forty Houses.

SHERBROOKE, Que., June 8.—A bush fire at Blake Lake yesterday communicated to the stores and houses situated on the west side of the railway track. Owing to a high wind and lack of appliances to stay its progress, it quickly spread. At least forty houses were destroyed. These contained in all 250 families, some of the houses being very large. One or two of them covered each twenty-four families. These unfortunates camped out in the fields last night. Most of them saved some of their household effects.

MONTREAL, June 8.—The effect of Sir John Macdonald's death had evidently been largely discounted in financial circles. The stock market to-day was slightly weaker, but there was no big drop such as was expected.

The Montreal Conservative Club held a meeting to-day, and unanimously adopted a resolution expressing its sorrow at the death of the Premier. It was decided that the club should be represented at the funeral. The commanding officers of the various city regiments also met to-day, and passed resolutions of condolence and resolved to attend the funeral.

STOLE HIS CHILD.

An abduction in broad daylight, almost within Tacoma, and a wild midnight ride after the abductor and his prey form one of the most exciting stories Tacoma has furnished for many a day, says the Globe of that city. The abductor is J. H. Ramsdell, of Victoria, and the abducted was a four-year-old girl, his daughter. The kidnapping took place on Saturday afternoon on the road leading to Spanaway lake. The story is that of trouble between man and wife.

Ramsdell and his wife, who had been living in Victoria, separated a short time ago, and Mrs. Ramsdell, who is a good-looking woman about 26 years old, went back to her former home, the Dougherty farm, about three miles outside of Tacoma to the southwest, while her husband remained in Victoria. The couple had three children, and Mrs. Ramsdell brought home with her their little girl, while the older boys remained with their father.

With her littie girl and sister Mrs. Ramsdell went out driving on Saturday afternoon. They went on for quite a distance, when there jumped from a clump of bushes Ramsdell, who seized the horse's head and brought the carriage to a stop. He then said he wanted the child, and without wasting any time, he seized the young one and lifted her from the wagon and disappeared, not heeding the cries of the mother.

When Mrs. Ramsdell had sufficiently recovered herself she resolved to seek the aid of the authorities, and she made her way into the city as rapidly as possible. She hunted up Lawyer Sharpstein, and they proceeded to have a warrant sworn out for her husband's arrest.

Securing a deputy, the lawyer proceeded out on the chase for the abductor and abducted, starting in a gurney about 1 o'clock. They went out to the farm where Ramsdell has been stopping a couple of days, the wife putting up near by in the meantime, and they could find no sight of him. For about four hours the party sought everywhere for the father and child, but they were not to be found.

The parties concerned in the matter would say but very little in regard to it, and Lawyer Sharpstein declared that Ramsdell's lawyer had been consulted, and that it was the understanding that the matter would be arranged all right. In the meantime the father has all three of the children.

PLAYING WITH THE SUN.

Edison Finds Sport in Studying the Luminary's Spots.

The New York Sun says. One of the most curious arrangements contrived by Thomas A. Edison for his personal amusement and gratification is an arrangement which he calls his "cosmical telephone."

Edison owns an iron mine at Ogden, N.J. There is a bed of magnetic iron ore about a mile long and 450 feet wide, which he says runs down into the earth for five or six miles. He estimates the amount of iron in the mines at 2,000,000,000,000 tons.

Around Ogden there is enormous intensification of the magnetic forces of the earth. It is a well known fact that the daily variations in these magnetic forces, as shown by the needle, are directly influenced by disturbances in sun spots. These variations are regularly recorded every day at Kew, near London.

Mr. Edison says that at his iron mine near Ogden he has more than a million times the concentration of magnetic lines that there is at Kew. To record the daily variation in his own magnetic lines at Ogden, Mr. Edison has constructed his "cosmical telephone." There are the most wonderful things going on in the sunspots all the time, he says.

BEAUTIFUL SUN SPOTS.

"Didn't you ever see them? Why, they are beautiful. The disturbances are tremendous bursts of hydrogen. They fly out of these spots 60,000 miles long. Awful things happen up there. You can see them every day with my telescope."

To construct this telephone he has surrounded the whole bed of magnetic iron with poles. On these poles he has strung a cable of fifteen copper wires. The ends of this cable run down into a little house and are connected with an ordinary receiver of a common Bell telephone. The idea is that the surrounding of this enormous bed of magnetic iron with the copper wires will operate for the formation of a gigantic magnet such as is used in the receiver of the every-day telephone. Through this tremendous receiver Edison says he will be in direct telephonic communication with the sun, only the communication will be one-sided. He can hear everything that goes on up there, but he can't do any transmitting.

DISTINCT DISTURBANCES RECORDED.

He believes that every disturbance in the sun's spots will cause a corresponding variation of his concentrated magnetic lines at Ogden, and that this variation will be at once detected in some way by the receiver of his cosmical telephone.

"Yes, sir," he says, "I can hear them with this telephone. Next time there are any violent changes in the sun's spots which disturb magnetic lines on the earth I shall know it, and if there are 60,000 miles of hydrogen chasing away from the sun I shall hear it."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

Nature requires aid in correcting irregularities at this season, and for both men and women no other remedy equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a spring blood tonic. They supply all the constituents necessary to enrich the blood and build up the system. THE CRY OF MILLIONS
OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.
I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when dear Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the DRAGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

WHITE ROCK, B. C.

This Townsite is situated on Semiahmoo Bay, and is the only deep water seaport between the International Bounday Line and Vancouver, B.C. It will probably be the Mainland starting-point of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. It is now the outlet for the finest agricultural district in British Columbia.

The C.P.R. has made a survey of a line from Vancouver direct to this point. The Royal City Planing Mills Company has built a substantial wharf here, and has established a lumber yard, which supplies the farmers of this district. A handsome Hotel has been erected and building is going on rapidly. Several influential and far-sighted Corporations have acquired large tracts of land surrounding this Townsite.

SUITS TO ORDER

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

CANADIAN PEERS.

The London Times, commenting on the elevation of Sir GEO. STEPHEN to peerage, is of opinion that it indicates the desire of the present Government to draw closer the bonds of union with the colonies. The Pall Mall Gazette says, it is an "imperial incident, the beginning of a Colonial House of Lords. Both of these eminent organs strangely misconceive the temper of Canadians. Sir GEO. STEPHEN'S elevation to the peerage is regarded by three-fifths of the Canadians as an anachronism, while as to a Colonial House of Lords such an institution is impossible. It is idle to think of the House of Lords for Canada, when in England the House of Lords is regarded merely a survival, and is permitted to live simply because it has ceased to obstruct Parliament. And what makes the remarks of the Times and Gazette all the more absurd is, that Sir GEO. STEPHEN is practically no longer a Canadian. Having amassed wealth by subscribing to a policy which resulted in the piling up of an enormous national debt he posts off to England to live, and there hobnobs with Mrs. MACKEY and the rest of the aristocracy. Hereditary rulers are no longer inseparable from British institutions. If England would draw closer the bonds of union with the colonies, instead of raising financiers with aristocratic proclivities to the peerage, she will foster the people and leave the financiers to arrange their own social conditions.

HOW THE THING IS DONE

"Among the fine things done by McKinley & Co. for the farmers," says the Chicago Herald, "was to double the duty on oatmeal."

"Farmers do not make oatmeal. Manufacturers do that, and they are the one's to get the benefit of the higher duty. But farmers are not expected to see that. They know that they raise oats, and they are expected to see only that if foreign oatmeal is shut out Americans will probably make more of it, and the farmers will have a larger market for oats. The farmers are trusted not to look any further into the matter and find out that a duty on oatmeal is not for their protection. They are trusted here just as they are trusted not to see that duties on wheat, corn, flour, meal, etc., do not protect them any, because they produce a surplus which they must sell abroad or sell at slaughter prices at home, and which governs the price of the entire product. If they could form an effective combination they could get something out of the tariff by exacting more from their own countrymen than they can get from foreigners. But they are too numerous for that. They cannot combine to any purpose."

"Not so with the oatmeal manufacturers. They are few and can combine. And that accounts or the double duty. In 1889 the imports of oatmeal amounted to 1,914,639 pounds and the exports to 10,210,413 pounds. In 1890 the imports amounted to 2,372,106 pounds and the exports to 25,460,322 pounds. What did the manufacturers want of a duty of even half a cent a pound when they could export and sell in competition with all comers over ten times as much oatmeal as was imported? And why did they want the duty doubled? Simply to enable them to form a combination and exact higher prices from their countrymen than they could get from foreigners in free competition. And this is just what they have done. About a month ago they organized a trust, and now they will show us what the McKinley double duty was for."

Now what is peculiar to the States as to McKinleyism, is also peculiar to Canada as to National Policyism; and as regards the American dealers in oatmeal, we have a parallel case in the Montreal egg dealers who want the duty increased on eggs. Will the farmers of Canada and the United States ever wake up to the true facts of the case? Will they ever learn that National Policy and McKinleyism are simply devices to facilitate combination? After a while when a few more mortgages shall have been foreclosed it may be expected that a great light will fall on them. It requires adversity to sharpen the perceptive faculties of some people.

LOOKS LIKE WAR.

France, it is said, purposes to lay in a two months' stock of wheat and flour for the population confined within the intrenched camps or fortified towns, the expense to be shared between the municipalities and the state. It is calculated that in 21 intrenched camps in the northeast and southeast of France, there are fully 5,000,000 for whose supply a two months' stock of provisions will cost 43,000,000 francs, or say $7,740,000. M. DE FREYCINET, the engineer and Minister, who so ably seconded GAMBETTA'S efforts during the days of the government of national defense, in advocating the adoption of the measure, urged that the construction of fortifications would be useless if the means of enabling the inhabitants to live were unprovided. This looks as if France regarded war as inevitable. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. This wheat and flour must come from this side of the water. Manitoba, doubtless, will derive some benefit from the determination of the French to prepare against siege.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Toronto Mail: The idea is prevalent that Chinamen, in addition to being cheap, are good workmen as well. This, however, is not the experience of the contractors who built the Columbia & Kootenay Railway in the Pacific Province. They say that the Chinese are worthless for heavy, continuous work, and that they will never again undertake a contract if Chinese labor is forced upon them. Ah Sin may be good at washing and ironing shirts and making beds, but the pick and the shovel are not in his line of business.

A HOME FOR THE AGED.

TO THE EDITOR:—I was pleased to notice in Monday's issue of the TIMES an article in reference to the necessity of establishing a home for the aged and infirm. I am sure many in the city will be glad to assist Mayor Grant in procuring a home for those who are so unfortunate in their advanced years, and are unable to provide for themselves. It has often been my lot and no doubt many of the medical practitioners in the city have experienced the same, to find many of the aged and infirm of the poorer classes suffering more from the want of the necessaries of life and proper care than from need of medical advice. During last winter a large number of this class could be found in our midst, and as our city increases in population we may expect to find the number of this class grow accordingly. Situated as we are in Victoria, during the winter season a large number of men come from the various outlying districts, as well as from the mines of the interior, we must therefore expect many of the class to which we have referred to, coming under our notice, and some provision should be made for their relief. Very many of the so-called aged and infirm here are not strangers in British Columbia, a large number of them vave experienced the trials and difficulties of pioneer life, and many can relate their experiences of '58 and '62, and have no doubt done their share in developing the resources of this province. When we consider the matter in this light, it should not be considered so much a matter of charity to provide for these people as a matter of duty. I hope the proposition now made, namely: to create a home for the aged and infirm will be undertaken in earnest, and carried into effect. I am sure that many of our citizens will gladly respond to the appeal, when the matter is placed before them in a practical way. I am, yours truly,
G. L. MILNE, M.D.

CHRISTIAN CHARITY.

TO THE EDITOR.—The scheme proposed in your editorial column on Monday evening to provide a home for the indigent should not be allowed to drop. The poor will always be with us; but we can, at least, provide them with food and a place to lay their weary heads. It is not my intention to disparage in the least the efforts made to save the Chinese from destruction, and I hope the parties interested in the Chinese Home will not be offended, but a sight presented itself to the writer a few days ago which seemed out of place in a Christian country, where magnificent churches are in course of construction and the sound of the hammer and trowel can be heard on every hand. While walking along the streets a few days ago I chanced to meet seven sleek, well-dressed Chinese girls in charge of a lady. They appeared happy, well-fed and contented. Passing on I met an old white decrepid man who was in rags. He knew not where the next meal would come from, and had no place to lay his weary limbs. Years ago this man was a prosperous hotel keeper in this city. Drink caused his downfall, and many persons will say he deserves no pity. This is not right. If men of our own race should starve because they fall where is the use saving people of a race which is to-day taking the bread from the mouths of our laboring classes. We feed and clothe their lepers, build homes and schools for these foreigners and allow our own race to starve. In other countries it is usual to place such persons on a poor farm. They can earn their bread by tilling the soil and might supply the city with clean, healthy vegetables. The Provincial Government would donate land for this purpose outside the city limits. It would cost but a small sum to erect buildings and the indigent pioneer would be provided with a home in which he would pass the remainder of his days. T.

CORRECT ERROR RE. V. S. & N. W. RAILWAY CO.

TO THE EDITOR:—A paragraph in your issue of yesterday, speaking in reference to a meeting of the city council with the promoters of the V. S. & N. W. Railway Co. on Monday evening last, states: "The city has already guaranteed $500,000 bonds of the company; but they now ask for a cash subsidy of the same amount" ($500,000).

Now, sir, this paragraph is either an error or a mis-statement, and, if the latter, is manifestly designed to injure the V. S. & N. W. R. Co., and thereby seriously injure this city. If your readers will turn to the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway by-law, 1889, they will find that the only thing that the city did, and intended to do, was to grant a bonus of interest at the rate of four per cent per annum on the first issue of $500,000 of railway bonds for twenty-five years. The payment of the bonds, however, was not guaranteed by the city.

Again, if your readers will turn to the DAILY TIMES of May 14th last, they will find that the application of the promoters of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway Company, asked the city council to grant $500,000 to the company to be paid over at the rate of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars per mile as the main line of railway was completed, and that the city charge no interest on the sum so advanced, for fifteen years, and that the city be given a second mortgage on the main line of of railway between Victoria and New Westminster as security for the payment of the $500,000 so advanced. At the end of fifteen years, the company to pay back to the city the $500,000 so advanced, in cash, or debentures of the company bearing interest at four per cent. per annum redeemable within ten years.

Such, sir, is the true state, at present, of the financial arrangements completed, or proposed to be entered into, between the V. S. & N. W. R. Co. and the City of Victoria.

I shall be glad if you will publish this note in your issue of to-day, and thus get the public right as to the financial relations of the company with the city.

LONDON GOSSIP.

The Conclusion of the Baccarat Scandal—Papal Finances.

LONDON, June 10.—Friends of Sir William Gordon-Cummings now claim that the jury was packed, and that so far from the defense being surprised, the questions were expected and had been arranged in advance in order to give the Prince of Wales a pretext for declaring his belief in Cummings' guilt. A jurymen has admitted that the case was settled against the plaintiff by the evidence of the Prince and especially the answer of the latter declaring that he had found it impossible to discredit the evidence against Cummings. It is said that all the jurymen are Conservatives in political faith. A singular coincidence, to which attention has been called, is that the most famous of English trials before the one just concluded, involving the question of cheating at cards, was a little over 50 years ago, and a Mr. Cumming was a defendant. Cumming in that case charged Lord Deroos with cheating. His Lordship sued Cumming for damages, and the jury, as in the recent case, gave a verdict for the defendant, substantially affirming the truth of the charge. Lady Middleton, sister of Sir William, is said to be seriously affected by the verdict and unable to leave her apartments. Her husband, Lord Middleton, who is devoted to his wife and has been an earnest champion of her brother, is also much broken down. It is said to be the first stain on the Cummings or their history, and the Middletons are one of the proudest families in England, being descended from a lord chief justice of Henry VIII. It is rumored that Queen Victoria has sent a message of congratulations to the Wilsons through the Prince of Wales, but this cannot be verified.

LONDON, June 10.—Sir William Gordon-Cummings and Miss Florence Garner, of New York, were married this morning in Trinity Church, Chelsea. The wedding was a private one, 10 persons only, relatives or close friends being present. The sun shone brightly on the newly married couple as they departed in a happy mood and amid the congratulations of their friends for Sir William's Scotch estate, where the honeymoon will be passed.

Major Vesy Dawson, of the Coldstream Guards, acted as groomsman for Sir William, who was perfectly cool and bore himself proudly. It became known immediately upon the announcement of the verdict of the baccarat case that the late plaintiff offered to release Miss Garner from the engagment. This proposition was scouted by the young lady, who insisted that the marriage should be celebrated to-day.

THE POPE'S FINANCES.

A Rome dispatch says that considerable excitement prevails in regard to the financial affairs of the Pope. It is said that His Holiness is not satisfied with the examination by a committee of cardinals, and proposes to have an expert accountant go through the books of the papacy, back as far as his own accession to the papal throne. It now appears that one of the Pope's trusted employees has been a persistent speculator in Argentine securities, and had to go to the wall when that republic failed to meet its obligations. Another was guilty of the still less pardonable offence of investing in Italian bonds, although as he acted through a broker the papacy was not compromised.

EXECUTED BY IMPALEMENT.

A dispatch from Cape Town says that the Queen of Amatonga, enraged at the conduct of one of her indunas, ordered the unfortunate man to be impaled, which punishment was inflicted in the presence of two missionaries and the Amatonga force of about 2000 men. The scene was frightful as the unfortunate chief made all the resistance he could. The missionaries say that the induna executed was at one time's great favorite of the Queen. Amatonga is a small independent country near Zululand.

BACCARAT AT BERLIN.

A Berlin telegram says that the baccarat has been introduced as a new amusement at the Prussian Court, the Kaiser being anxious to know by practical illustration the incidents of the affair with which his royal uncle was connected. The Kaiser has ordered a fine military funeral for the two soldiers killed on parade, while he was reviewing the regiment to which the young men belonged. A pension will also be granted to their nearest relatives.

A CONSCRIPT ESCAPES.

A German soldier fired on a peasant near Rosslingen, on the Lorraine frontier, on Monday. The peasant, a young man named Albrecht, who had been drawn for the army and determined to make his escape. He darted past the sentinel but received a bullet in the leg. This did not prevent the young conscript from escaping into France.

Gas Fixtures.

Braden & Stamford have just imported a fine lot of gas fixtures which every one should see before going elsewhere.

Closing Exams.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the shareholders in the Victoria Jockey Club is called for next Tuesday evening. Business of importance is coming up, so there should be a good attendance.

Waiting for the Warspite.

H.M S. Nymphe came in from the Cape yesterday, where she has been cruising. She saw nothing of the Warspite, which is now daily expected from the south. The Nymphe went out again this morning.

Contract Let.

Jno. Teague, architect, yesterday awarded the contract for the foundation and basement of the new Driard Hotel to Messrs Elford & Smith. The cost of this portion of the new building will be close upon $10,000.

Work on the Sewers.

Alex. McBean, contractor for the sewers, received another lot of machinery last night. Work is being pushed on the sewers, pipes having been laid on Cook and Humboldt streets, and a lot of tunneling having already been done.

Stores Closed.

The city was rather quiet between 11 and 1 o'clock to-day, a number of stores and offices being closed on account of the funeral of Sir John. The schools also closed at 11 o'clock and did not open again, while the government and municipal offices were closed all day.

Of Unsound Mind.

Beatrice Hatherton, the woman of evil repute, who was arrested last night for disorderly conduct while under the influence of liquor, now turns out to be of unsound mind. She will be examined by a physician to-morrow and then forwarded to the Refuge Home.

Coal Cutting Machine.

There arrived from the East last evening, via the N. P. R., another carload of machinery for the Union Mines, Comox. It consists of an electric machine for cutting coal after the style of those recently tried and which proved so satisfactory. The machine cuts the coal out of the seam in large blocks.

The Licensing Court.

There was no business done at the meeting of the Board of Licensing Commissioners to-day. When Mayor Grant took the chair he remarked that out of respect to the dead Premier, and as there were to be funeral services held in this city simultaneously with those in Ottawa, he thought it would be as well to adjourn for a few days. After a short discussion the meeting adjourned till Tuesday next, at 12 noon.

Temperance Address.

Mrs. Buell and Miss Fugle, officers of the National W. C. T. U., will arrive next Monday and on the same evening will give interesting addresses on temperance in the Pandora street Methodist school room. On Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, "A School of Methods" will be opened. As this is something quite new and will show the working of the W. C. T. U., it is earnestly hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing these talented ladies.

A Savage Chinaman.

Mr. R. Carter, the tax collector, should be the first to say, "The Chinese must go," as if there is one person in this world who had trouble with Mongolians it is him. Yesterday he called upon two Chinamen working at a residence in the Work Estate to pay their taxes. One of them fled to the woods, but the other was braver and held his ground with an axe in his hand. The axe was levelled at Mr. Carter's head, but that gentleman, by a lucky stroke, knocked John down and also one of John's teeth down his throat. The Chinaman was arrested, but on account of illness he could not appear in court this morning.

From the North.

The steamer Danube arrived at the outer wharf late yesterday afternoon. She reports everything quiet in the northern country, but the canneries will be started full blast by the 15th. From present indications there will be a good fishing season on the Skeena this season. The following were her passengers and consignees for this port:

Passengers—Mr. Thompson, James A. Mabood, Tom Gamble and Charles Burton.

The Danube will sail again for Port Simpson and other northern ports on the 15th inst.

Overcrowded Schools.

James Bay Ward school has been completely outgrown by the population of that portion of the city. When built some time ago, it was thought that it would be large enough for a ward school for some time to come, but those who had the building of it in hand were poor prophets. The returns read at the meeting of the school trustees last evening proves this. In the junior division alone there are 40 pupils, and Trustee Mallandaine said that on the occasion of a recent visit that he made to the school, he found that the pupils had to take turns at sitting down. The other ward schools are in the same condition, and the Government should see that additions are made during the coming vacations. The teaching staff should also be increased, as it is impossible for one teacher to teach 90 pupils properly.

Police Court Record.

The only branch of the municipal government transacting business today was the Police Court with Justice of the Peace McMicking on the bench. Only those cases in which it would be a hardship on the prisoner to be kept confined were called. After a drunk had accepted a $5 fine in preference to one month confinement, Thomas Virtu was arranged on a charge of driving on the grass in the park. He pleded guilty and as he fully showed that he had no knowledge of the by-law that prohibited it he was discharged on paying of the costs. At the suggestion of Chief of Police Sheppard his honor requested the TIMES to inform the public this by-law does exist and will be strictly enforced in the future to preserve the beauty of the park. The only other case before the court was George McCrae, who paid $2 for leaving his wagon stand in the street over night.

ANOTHER PROJECT.

A Company Will Propose to Build via Saanich to Blaine.

It is understood upon good authority that a company of local capitalists, who will be backed by the Great Northern Railway, will submit a proposal to the City Council to construct a railway to a harbor on the Saanich peninsula, from which point a ferry will be operated to Blaine, Wash., when connection will be made with the American roads. The Great Northern is rapidly approaching Puget Sound and is expected to have its terminus somewhere in the vicinity of or south of Blaine. The company will ask a subsidy from Victoria of $150,000 and another from the Government of about $200,000.

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

The steamer Zambesi left for Portland yesterday afternoon with her proportion of freight for that port. She will load some freight there and come here for the rest. On account of the scarcity of flour she will be unable to load any.

The natural of these pulleys challenge the world upon the following points of merit: Perfect balance, best shaft fastening in the world, highest and strongest pulley ever made, best belt surface, most convenient and strongest pulley ever made, being 70 per cent lighter than cast iron and 40 per cent lighter than wrought iron or steel, 25 to 60 per cent advantage with same belt over any iron pulley.

THEIR FIRST BAZAAR.

THE YOUNG LADIES OF ST. ANDREWS' R. C. PRO-CATHEDRAL

Take Charge of Philharmonic Hall—The Booths and Stalls Well Stocked—Those to Whom Credit is Due for the Success of the Affair.

The young ladies of the R. C. pro-Cathedral, who have by the practice they have had at the bazaars held by the elder ladies of the congregation, learned how an affair of this kind should be managed, threw Philharmonic Hall open to the public this morning. It was the first time they attempted this without assistance, but the hall showed that they knew how it was to be done, and therefore from the start it promised to be a success. The Hall looked as pretty as could be, with the numerous booths handsomely decorated with evergreens and crowded with fancy goods of every description, while the young ladies, with their picturesque lace caps and neat aprons made the place look better still. They have worked long, hard and earnestly at the goods that they are offering for sale, and they deserve the success that they are meeting with. Goods of every description, neatly and well made, cover the tables, and are being sold fast enough to keep the deft fingers of the young ladies steadily at work.

The crowds commenced to wend their way toward the Hall at 12 o'clock, the hour at which luncheon was advertised to commence. A large number of business men took lunch at the Hall, being glad to have a change from the stereotyped bills of fare presented at their hotels and restaurants. A splendid table was set, the credit for which falls on Misses McTeigh and McGagan, who were ably assisted by the young ladies who have charge of the booths. This evening from 6 o'clock a dinner will be served which judging from luncheon will be something extra.

The main hall was well filled this afternoon but like all occasions of the kind the evening is the time when the large crowd assembles. On entering the main entrance the first thing to attract attention is the large flower stand literally covered with plants, shrubs and last but not least the button hole boquet, which every man that enters that hall to-night must wear. This is in charge of Miss Sievers and Miss Conlin. On the right is the soda water and temperance drinks stand well supplied with all the cooling beverages. This is in charge of Misses Madigan, McNiffe and Dolan, who are ever anxious to wait on their customers.

Misses Burnes and Lyons are at the ice cream stand, which of course is a place that cannot be ignored, so that the young ladies in charge of it will be kept busy.

The toy, doll and wheel of fortune stall is the place for the children, and they as usual hang around it admiring, choosing and buying the numerous articles that Mrs. Teporten, Miss Dwyer and Miss McDowell have to sell them.

On either side of the hall at the upper end of it are the two stands that as a rule look best on account no doubt of the goods which they contain. They are the fancy goods booths which are decorated with the principle work of the young ladies. Goods of all descriptions, hand painted, crochet, knitted, silk and everything pretty is to be had here. The housewife could not but be satisfied while the bachelor will find things to decorate his apartments. Misses Hart, Began, and Keast have charge of one, while the other is presided over by Misses Shaw, Goddin and Wilson.

Miss Dixon has a plain goods table stretching across the top of the hall well supplied and well patronized.

The candy table is also given a prominent place so that the boys and girls will lose no time finding it. Miss B. Keast and Miss S. McNiffe will see that everybody is attended to in this department.

The 5 o'clock tea which will take place under a canopy in the main hall is something new for a bazaar which promises to be something that will in future have to be kept up. Miss Skinner has charge of this and to her can be left the responsibility of making it a success.

The principle things to be raffled are a handsome picture of Bishop Lemmens and an arm chair presented by the Sisters of St. Ann. Other things will also be raffled.

This evening Mrs. Bridges' pupils will present the cantata "Flowers" and to-morrow evening a splendid programme will be rendered. The bazaar will be open all day to-morrow but the tables will be just as crowded as ever as the ladies will find things to fill the places of those sold.

The officers of the bazaar are Miss McDowell, president; Miss Skinner, vice-president; Miss McNiffe, secretary; and Miss M. Campbell, treasurer.

The Omnibus Strike.

LONDON, June 8.—The directors of the omnibus company are now in a conference with a deputation of non-union conductors and drivers, who say they are willing to work if guaranteed adequate poilcal protection.

Hardily a single omnibus of the 875 vehicles belonging to the London General Omnibus Co., is running to-day, and it is estimated that about five thousand men and ten thousand horses are idle through the strike which commenced yesterday.

The Place to go to.

To make room for our new stock of goods that is coming, we will sell the stock in hand consisting of gent's furnishing, etc., at prices that have no equal. Our children's jersey suits will all be sold at cost. Lion Gent's Furnishing House, 74 Yates street.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE RING.

Corbett and McCord, who were to spar during a minstrel performance at Seattle, were prevented from doing so by the police of that city.

BASE BALL.

The Colts of Port Townsend have lost two of their best men, viz., Lang and McDonald, both of whom have signed with the Seattle professional team.

LACROSSE.

The Victoria Lacrosse Club met last evening when Mr. W. G. McKenzie tendered his resignation as secretary, and Mr. G. Lowe was elected his successor. The secretary was asked to communicate with the Westminster team, asking them to postpone next Saturday's game for one week. The club will visit Fairhaven July 4th.

THE OAR.

CHAMPIONSHIP OF B. C.

Editor TIMES:—Alex. McLean, of New Westminster, claims the championship of British Columbia. The New Westminster papers also claim that McLean is the champion oarsman. In all fairness I would ask on what grounds McLean claims the championship? At present Henry Peterson is champion oarsman of British Columbia, and at the last regatta William Cotsford won the prize for professional oarsman. McLean challenged Peterson to row on Shawnigan Lake or the Fraser River. Peterson offers to take or give expenses. McLean now talks of rowing on the Fraser and will not give Peterson his expenses. The best way to settle the difficulty is for the men to row on Shawnigan Lake and pay their own expenses. McLean has no claim to the championship. He has been defeated several times by local oarsmen and will not row Cotsford in a shell. McLean is a good man in a fishing boat but he is of no use in best and best boats.

FINAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Eminent New York Optician Leaves for the East in a Few Days

And will Stop for a Short Time at Nanaimo and the Mainland Cities.

Mr. Seward regrets the necessity of his leaving Victoria while there are so many anxious to see him. His office will remain open an hour later each day during the remaining few days of his stay so as to accomodate as many as possible.

A large number of letters of gratitude have been received showing the grand result of the work done here, which has never been equalled before. Mr. Seward has proved his claim to be just, namely, as an expert optician. He is second to no one in America.

Dr. McNaughton Jones, Dr. Milne, Postmaster N. Shakespeare, Collector A. R. Milne, and hundreds of others now wearing Mr. Seward's glasses speak of the work in the highest terms.

A record of the test and degree of the glasses given in each case is kept on the books for future reference, so that in case of accident, any person can have their glasses duplicated by addressing Prof. F. D. Seward, box 3,567, New York.

Office corner Yates and Douglas sts., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; evenings from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

NOTE.—In reply to a large number of communications from Nanaimo and the Mainland, Mr. Seward has decided to stop for a short time at Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster.

Lived Two Days.

PORTLAND, June 7.—The Morning American, the new daily that was sprung upon the Portland public, is no more, and to-day half a dozen irate reporters and three times as many typos were looking for the men who engaged them. The paper was issued Friday morning and Saturday morning. There was no paper to-day because the managers said they could not complete arrangements for receiving a news service from the east until to-morrow, and there will be no paper to-morrow because the employes could get no money on the checks that were given them yesterday. Neither A. R. Reed, the alleged editor, nor Dana Thomas, the alleged business manager, could be found to-day. This is the paper that it was reported that John P. Irish, late of the San Francisco Alta, was to take charge of.

AN AMERICAN'S OPINION.

John Russell Young Thinks Cummings too Chivalric to Cheat.

NEW YORK, June 10.—John Russell Young, at one time Minister to China, who went around the world with Gen. Grant, is an intimate friend of Sir Gordon-Cummings, and for weeks the editor was his associate, journeying with him in India, Egypt and Albania. He has played whist with the nobleman, who is now the central figure in Mrs. Grundy's world. He says: "The play of Sir William, whenever I witnessed or shared it, was not that of a gambler, but of a gentleman, a high-tempered, impetuous, brusque, outspoken, resolute man, with a capacity for instant anger, sensitive, irritable, ready with a word or a blow, the military temperament at times being unduly developed; stern with men, infinite in sympathy for dogs and dumb animals. I could imagine anything of Sir William Gordon-Cummings rather than his cheating at cards. A row in the barracks at 5 o'clock in the morning, a duel because of high words over night brandy and soda, riding into a battery on a canter, bewitched by a pretty woman, heading a steeplechase at breakneck speed, flogging a cabman for impertinence, or presiding over a boxing match at the Pelican Club. These experiences might be attributed to Cummings, and any one would be a thousand times more plausible than the ignominious business of cheating at cards.

HAITIAN HORRORS.

President Hippolyte Causes the Streets to Run With Blood.

PORT AU PRINCE, June 1.—[By steamer to New York June 8.]—The massacre of St. Bartholomew has had a reproduction here lately. There had been rumors that a revolution against Hippolyte was imminent, and these having reached his ears he caused the arrest of about 80 suspected persons. Among them was General Sully, who hid himself when informed that he was wanted. Failing to secure him, his wife was taken instead, and thrown into a prison.

The outbreak occurred May 20. A former cabinet minister, at the head of a band of well-armed followers, stormed the prison and released 200 prisoners, who were provided with arms, and when Hippolyte's troops arrived there was a bloody battle. The rebels were routed and the leaders shot at once. By nightfall 40 men had been put to death. Others were captured and shot on the three following days. Every man suspected of being in sympathy with the insurgents was killed without a trial as soon a captured. Most of the 200 prisoners released from jail by the insurgents were recaptured and shot.

The outbreak seems to have been precipitated by the killing of Ernest Rigaud, the most prominent merchant in Port au Prince. Hippolyte suspected him of being in communication with Legitime and having brought a cargo of arms for the rebels. Hippolyte went to his house with a detachment of soldiers. Rigaud denied that he had any arms hid at his store or house. The President called him into the street and had him shot by the soldiers. The next morning a nephew of Rigaud called at Hippolite's house to ask about the killing of his uncle, not knowing that he had been shot by the President's orders. As soon as he stated the object of his visit, Hippolite had him dragged into the street and shot.

About the same time Alexis Rossigonal, an inoffensive and much esteemed man, was shot down without warning. Another man was put up against the cathedral wall and butchered. Seventeen men were executed in a batch, and even as this letter is being written, June 1, an occasional volley tells that another wretch has gone down. There is no fighting in the streets to excuse this. Every execution is carried out in the most cold-blooded way, the executioners being soldiers belonging to the most degraded type of men, and who seem to enjoy the bloody task.

It is impossible to enumerate in detail all of the murders that have been perpetrated under the color of the law. It is estimated that from May 28 to June 1 300 persons have been put to death. No one can say how long this state of affairs will last, or what the result will be, nor can anyone who has not been an eye-witness of the scenes of horror enacted, have any idea of the terrified condition of the people of Port au Prince.

MIRACLE OF MODERN DAYS.

"Totally Disabled." Yet Cured.

Hamilton Times, May 27th, 1891.

One of the most remarkable cures in the history of medicine has just been effected in this city and the fame of it is fast spreading throughout the land. Over four years ago Mr. John Marshall, then employed as manager of Mr. J. C. Williams' coal oil refinery works here, sustained a fall, which at the time was not thought to be serious. He doctored but his trouble grew worse and contracting cold after cold upon his other trouble he was compelled to give up work entirely. His troubles developed into ataxy, a nervous disorder, held by medical authorities to be incurable. For four years Mr. Marshall has been an intense sufferer. He lost the use of his legs entirely and could not raise himself from a chair except by the use of a crutch and a stick. Though there was power in his legs there was no feeling. They were like dead weights, cold as ice and not susceptible to feeling. He could take his heavy stick and hammer the flesh until the sound of blows filled the house. During the course of these years no less than fourteen leading physicians of this city treated him. Sometimes two or three of them were in attendance at once. All agreed that his disease was incurable. Mr. Marshall went to Toronto for electrical treatment at a heavy expense, but received not the slightest benefit. He tried every patent medicine that was recommended to him, yet without getting any aid. The "suspension" treatment was resorted to, and he was suspended by means of appliances around his neck and under his arms from the ceiling of the barn, but got no relief. Electric belts and appliances of an endless variety were tried, and thoroughly tried, too, but all resulted the same way—they left Mr. Marshall just as they had found him. At one time 20 pins were run right into the flesh of his leg. He barely felt two of them; the others he did not feel at all. His flesh was cut into with a knife and he felt not the slightest pain; and so he went on until the 13th day of April last, every remedy suggested by anyone being tried, and hundreds of dollars spent upon patent medicines, to say nothing of doctors' bills.

Mr. Marshall was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance. He was passed by the physicians of the order as totally disabled for life. The chief medical examiner passed him, and he was paid the $1000 paid by the Order in cases of total disability.

A day or two ago a Times representative called upon Mr. Marshall at his residence, No. 25 Little William street. The door was open, and upon knocking a strong steady step was heard. Mr. Marshall opened the door and received the reporter cordially. He walked without either crutch or stick and looked the picture of a sturdy fine man. He conversed freely of his case, as did Mrs. Marshall who came in later. "Five weeks ago," he said, "I could not raise my foot or bend my leg. As for walking without a stick or crutch it was impossible. I had seen an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as they were especially recommended for nervous disorders, I resolved to try them. I had what the doctors called Locomotor Ataxy. I had not walked for almost four years. My wife said, 'Oh, what's the use of trying another patent medicine?' but I tried the Pink Pills. I had not used one box before I began to feel the effects. The feeling came back to my right leg first. After using them two weeks I was able to walk up to Mr. C. J. Williams' place on MacNab street, over a mile and a half from here, and back. I had got nearly home when my left leg gave out, and I nearly went down. I had to stand and rub the leg for several minutes. Then it felt as if a thousand pins were running in it. That was the blood beginning to circulate in the leg that had been dead almost four years. From that time it has steadily improved. Now you see how I am. (Here Mr. Marshall arose and walked briskly around the room without artificial assistance.) I have used absolutely nothing but the Pink Pills and taken cold baths as directed on the boxes. To-day I walked to the market and back—a three mile walk. I have lived in Hamilton for 30 years and am well known. Hundreds of people stopped me on the streets. Some of them stopped me to see if it was really John Marshall. Hundreds of people have been here to see me. Among them came several physicians who attended me. One of them, and the one who did the most for me, said, 'Well, you are the first cure in 10,000 cases.' I can tell you of a bank messenger in this city who has not walked as straight in 25 years as he has this last week. He took Pink Pills on my recommendation. Scores more in this city are trying them and quite a number in this vicinity have been benefitted."

Mr. Marshall is gaining strength rapidly and expects to be back to his work before long. He grows more enthusiastic in talking of Pink Pills and he has good reason to, for his is a remarkable salvation. Since beginning to use the remedy he has regained lost flesh and now weighs more than he has for nine years. He has not an ache or pain, but is conscious of a delicious feeling of healthy life in his legs.

The remarkable case noted in the above article from the Hamilton Times, conclusively proves that the proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have in no way over-stated the merits of their remedy. Pink Pills are a never failing blood builder and nerve tonic, and are equally valuable for men or women, young or old. They cure all forms of debility, female weaknesses, suppressions, chronic constipation, headache, St. Vitus dance, loss of memory, premature decay, etc., and by their marvellous action on the blood, build up the system anew and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow complexions. These pills are sold by all dealers or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Brockville, Ont.

We May Change Our Characters and Lives.

The man of violent temper, of uncontrolled passions, of tumultuous feelings, whose life is one continual excitement will rarely, if ever, live to a great age. Such characters are often found among the nervous, irritable, dyspeptic, bilious and morose, than in the ranks of the strong-nerved, healthy, robust and those of buoyant spirits and cheerful disposition. Such characters are a curse, a hindrance, and a barrier to the well-being of the world and humanity. The question has been asked: "Can such men be changed in character for the better?" We answer, "Yes." To accomplish this the great nerve system must be strengthened and toned; dyspepsia must be banished; excitement allayed, and sound refreshing sleep found, as perfect and vigorous digestion. To achieve these very desirable objects it is imperatively necessary that Paine's Celery Compound be used. By its use undesirable characters may change their lives, and become useful to the world. Let them bear in mind that their present condition is due almost wholly to nervous derangements, all of which will easily yield to the wonderful effects of Paine's Celery Compound.

The Trustees Have Very Little to Occupy the Time of the Board

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of School Trustees was held last evening. Chairman Hayward in the chair, and Messrs. Erskine, Hall, Mallandaine, Mallette and Walker present.

The secretary having read the minutes of the former meeting, he read the returns which, however, were not complete on account of the second assistant of the High School not sending in his report. The secretary was ordered to communicate with him.

The Board then entered a discussion on what was to be done with the funds in their hands which were raised for furnishing a gymnasium. It was finally decided to hand it over to the city council in trust.

The chairman called the attention of the Board to the fact that they were required to hold an annual meeting. On motion the day was fixed for Monday the 22nd inst. The chairman and secretary were appointed a special committee to draft the annual report. The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Baker in Winnipeg.

Mr. E. Crow Baker was in Winnipeg a day or two going East. The Free Press interviewed him, and says: In regard to the prospective future of Victoria he is particularly hopeful. He predicts that the next generation of Canadians will find Victoria as large as Montreal and equally as important in a commercial sense as any city on the continent. He says that as California is the wealthiest state in the Union, British Columbia will be the wealthiest province in the Dominion. "Our beautiful city," said Mr. Baker, to a Free Press reporter yesterday, "is at present making gratifying progress. Fine business blocks and handsome residences are being erected in all parts of the city, and real estate commands a good price—a legitimate price, remember; there is no inflation, no boom there, like you Winnipeggers once experienced. Perhaps you will be surprised to learn that many of the monied men of the Puget Sound cities are building residences in Victoria, because they find it a more pleasant place to live, as they escape the dry, hot atmosphere of the summer and the excessive humidity of the winter." Mr. Baker is out of politics at present, but he will doubtless be a member of the next Dominion Parliament, if he decides to re-enter public life. He will return from England in September, and will then spend a couple of days in Winnipeg.

A New El Dorado.

The astonishing discovery of an immense tract of excellent prairie land in a district dotted with small lakes was mentioned by the Telegram yesterday. The land which has been discovered by the Government's survey party is so located as to be tributary to Fort Simpson, and attention naturally turns again to that point once spoken of as the C.P.R. terminus. The location of a townsite near the Tsimpshean peninsula may yet become a reality. It is the last available port between Vancouver and Alaska, and offers a safe anchorage that will accommodate the largest fleet afloat. A number of railways are now heading that way, one, the Peace River and Alaska, will no doubt soon be in course of erection. There is coal in any quantity to be found near Fort Simpson, the Indians bringing it down the Skeena in canoe loads, so that it must be plenty and easy of access, the noble Siwash not being given to laborious mining. Fort Simpson is 1100 miles nearer Japan than the southern ports and the trade winds always keep the climate mild at that point. The harbor is easy of access, no towage being necessary, ships can sail right in. All these things considered it seems fair to assume that Fort Simpson will in the near future assume the dignity of a metropolis.—Vancouver Telegram.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

IMPORTANT LAND SALE

Monday, 15th June, 11 a.m.

Oak Bay Ave. & City Property

I have been instructed to sell at my sale rooms, Fort and Langley streets,

37 FINE LOTS 37

Fronting on Oak Bay avenue and adjacent streets, averaging about 62x120 each. This property is a subdivision of 10 acres, being a part of Section LXXIV, Victoria District. All these lots are very desirable building locations; the soil is first-class loam, having a good drainage. In fact there is no finer situation in the surrounding property, and is only a short distance from Fort street. The Electric Tram Cars will run past them in a short time (about 1st July). The Oak Bay avenue has been recently graveled, and there is no doubt but this will one of the finest and most fashionable drives from the city to the beautiful beach at the end of this avenue. These lots are all surveyed and staked off. Conspicuous posts will be placed on the land, so that a stranger will be able to go and inspect any of these lots with the aid of a map of the property now in the press, and which will be ready for distribution at an early date.

This is one of the best opportunities ever offered to acquire a good homestead, as they will be sold absolutely

WITHOUT RESERVE.

The terms are:—¼ cash; ¼ six months; ½ twelve months, with interest at 7 per cent.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

Subdivision Lot 4, and part of Subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of Suburban 5-acre lot, Lot 8, Victoria city, together with a large and commodious house and stables thereon. This property is on North Park street, and was formerly occupied by the late T. Nelson.

Terms of sale, cash.

—ALSO—

At corner of Oak Bay Avenue and Fort Street.

Lot One, on which is erected a fine and commodious two-story brick residence, with stone foundation, containing eight rooms and conveniences. There is a beautiful view of the Straits from this property.

WEST IN A PIANO CASE.

A Man and Woman Evidently Came From Toronto in One.

There was never a man more surprised than Capt. Griffiths, of the C. P. N. dock, this morning when he opened a piano case that has been in his charge for four months. The case arrived from Toronto four months ago, addressed to W. R Wright, Victoria, B.C., and all efforts to find an owner for it were fruitless. Finally the company's suspicions arose that there was something wrong with the case. Therefore Captain Griffiths was authorized to open the case this morning, when he received the big surprise. Instead of a piano, the astonished wharfinger discovered that the case contained nothing but a lot of bed clothing, a pair of lady's slippers, a carpenter's apron, a few tools, and a lot of bread crusts and loaves of bread. It then dawned upon those present that it had been used by someone as a means to come West. Hooks and wires upon which to hang clothes and air holes in the box were all provided so no doubt it had been used for that purpose. The wearing apparel left in the box made it appear that a man and a woman had evidently used it.

The scheme was indeed a very good one as pianos are always put in a cool, easy running car, and always handled top up, so that the travellers would not be very badly used. The car would be locked up from Toronto to Vancouver, so that they would not have to ride all the way in the box.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

PROVINCIAL VOTERS.

Parties qualified to register as PROVINCIAL VOTERS can obain blanks for that purpose at the TIMES office. All persons qualified to vote should see to it that their names are entered now. Workingmen, who cannot spare the time to go to the court room during working hours, can come to the TIMES' office between 6 and 7:30 p.m.

Qualifications for Provincial Voters: British subject by birth or naturalization, 21 years of age, one years residence in British Columbia, last two months being in the district where registration takes place.

NASAL BALM

It is a certain and speedy cure for Cold in the Head and Catarrh in all its stages.

SOOTHING, CLEANSING, HEALING.

Instant Relief, Permanent Cure, Failure Impossible.

Many so-called diseases are simply symptoms of Catarrh, such as head ache, partial deafness, losing sense of smell, foul breath, hawking and spitting, nausea, general feeling of debility, etc. If you are troubled with any of these or kindred symptoms, you have Catarrh, and should lose no time in procuring a bottle of Nasal Balm. Be warned in time, neglected cold in head results in Catarrh, followed by ozaena (fetid discharge) and death. NASAL BALM sold by all druggists, or will be sent, post paid, on receipt of price (50 cents and $1.00) by addressing

NEWCASTLE

NANAIMO,

On Saturday, June 20, 1 p.m.

OPERA HOUSE, NANAIMO

One Hundred Lots in the addition to

NEWCASTLE TOWN.

This land has been surveyed in town lots, and road ways are now being opened up through the land. The property commences at the water front of Nanaimo Harbor and runs back across the E. & N. Railway line, the lots are beautifully situated, having an easy grade, taking in an extensive view of the harbor and surrounding waters. This is the finest residential property surrounding Nanaimo, and, in the near future, will become valuable city property, through the construction of extensive wharves for the shipment of coal, and extensive coal boring operations in the immediate vicinity and other contemplated improvements now under consideration. Don't miss this golden opportunity of making a good solid investment in the

NEWCASTLE OF THE PACIFIC COAST.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third cash, one-third 6 months, one-third 12 months, with interest at 6 per cent. per annum. A rebate of interest will be allowed from the purchase money of those desiring to pay cash on the second and third payments.
